

WEEKLY FAMILY DEVOTIONAL

The bond of a family can be one of the most powerful and impactful things we will ever experience in life. It's no wonder that many of us who grew up in the age of family sitcoms reflect back on those shows and those memories so fondly – they provided us with the ideal image of a family that sticks together through any struggle. What if rather than looking to the past and fictional families, we found our ideal family in what God has to offer us? At Valley Praise, we are a family that always welcomes new members and new ways of being a family together. We stand in unity even when we disagree. We support one another in our struggles and as we grow in our faith. We are a family that is excited at the idea of seeing our family grow so big that it covers the entire Valley.
